ICE 2018

The 18th International Congress of Endocrinology (ICE) will be held in Cape Town, South Africa later this year between December 1-4. These are terrific international meetings and this year we have a strong contingent of Australian speakers taking part. While there have been water restrictions in Cape Town and talk of the taps being turned off, the rains have arrived so the organisers are confident there will be no issues with lack of water at the time of the meeting. Abstract submission deadline is 15th may

For more information and to register see http://www.ice2018.org/index.php

Australian Addison's Disease Association Inc. - providing a vital adrenal insufficiency resource

The AADAI provides a valuable resource on adrenal insufficiency to the medical community, patients and carers. This nonprofit organisation has more than 300 members across the country who are living with either Addison's Disease or adrenal insufficiency, and strives to improve outcomes for people with this rare condition by providing up-to-date information and ongoing support. Drawing on the expertise of leading Australian experts, the Association maintains www.addisons.org.au, publishes a quarterly newsletter, staffs a help line for individuals and organises regular seminars and events. They also conduct important advocacy work with various health and medical professionals to help improve the diagnosis and treatment of people with adrenal insufficiency. The Association looks forward to working collaboratively with endocrinologists, endocrine nurses and the medical profession as a whole in the future.

For further information, please visit www.addisons.org.au or email us at info@addisons.org.au

Expressions of interest for Sydney/NSW Thyroid Cancer Interest Group

Feedback is being sought regarding the establishment of a Sydney/NSW -wide Thyroid Cancer Interest Group which would meet twice yearly to discuss challenging cases. This group would aim to capture Endocrinologists, Surgeons, Oncologists and Nuclear Medicine Physicians and their trainees.

Feedback to Diana Learoyd at Royal North Shore Hospital in Sydney would be appreciated, via email diana.learoyd@sydney.edu.au

ANZBMS Annual Scientific Meeting, 2nd-5th September 2018, Queenstown

The 28th annual scientific meeting of the ANZBMS will be held in Queenstown from the 2nd to the 5th of September 2018. Chaired by Rachel Davey and Rory Clifton Bligh, together with members David Findlay, Jill Cornish, Tim Cundy, Jackie Centre and Christina Vrahnas, the POC have put together a varied program of cutting-edge science that will appeal to both clinician and basic scientists in the musculoskeletal field. Topics to be presented by our invited speakers from France, the USA, Australia and New Zealand include bone and vascular biology, osteoarthritis, fracture healing and 3D printing, exercise, nutrition and sarcopenia, designing the skeleton, bone cell biology, as well as an update on anabolic and antiresorptive therapies. Our scientific program also includes basic and clinical abstract presentations, young investigator awards and an interactive poster tour session. The Early Career Investigator Committee will be hosting a 'Building your research profile" symposium and an evening networking event. There will be ample time in the scientific program for networking and discussion including a free afternoon allowing delegates to make the most of our beautiful location, with the local organising committee organising a trip to one of Queenstown's nearby ski slopes. The depth and breadth of the scientific program, together with Queenstown's breath taking scenery, ensures for a vibrant and valuable meeting for all attendees.

Call for PhD scholarship applicants in Reproductive Medicine

The University of New South Wales (UNSW) and the Fertility and Research Centre (FRC) will be supporting a student of exceptional research potential to undertake a Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) within the field of reproductive medicine.

With improving cancer survival rates, there is an increasing demand for women/girls to protect their reproductive potential, prior to facing fertility-destroying chemo/radio-therapy. Currently in vitro fertilisation (IVF) is the only viable approach available to cancer survivors; however, a full IVF cycle is commonly not suitable or available. Patients often have ovarian tissue cryopreserved prior to chemo/radio-therapy but the current prospects of a future pregnancy are very low. Using novel pharmacological agents, this project will investigate their role in female fertility and their potential to be used as novel oncofertility strategies for cancer patients.

Applications will only be accepted as a Microsoft Word Document submitted by email. Candidates are expected to complete the accompanying form.

Please send to: michael.bertoldo@unsw.edu.au by COB Friday 11th May 2018.
